

CASE STUDY

Bayou Place, Downtown Houston

The Angelika Film Center and Cafe is more than a place for dinner and a movie. It has become a landmark of Houston's night life.

Water leaks had started to show at the planters and the Center's administration decided that it was time to protect the building. The best solution was sprayed-on polyurea to encapsulate the planters eliminating all water leaks and, most importantly, to protect the building and the underneath garage.

Surroundings were protected with plastic and the polyurea was sprayed-on without affecting the center's operations.

Job was completed in just one day!
